  (Call on student). "No."
  How do you know?
  (Call on student). "One verb is singular, and the other one is plural."
  Yes, One verb is singular, and the other one is plural. In a compound verb, the verbs must match in number. They both must be either singular or plural.
- Look back at sentence 3. Think about how to change one of the verbs so that they both agree. Read your changed sentence.
  (Call on student). "He rides a bike and rides a skateboard, too."
  (Write correction on board) Yes, now both of the verbs are the same in number. They are both singular. Good correcting verb number.

2. Everybody, look at Part D in your workbook. There are two sentences in Part D. They are short sentences.
- Let's read the first sentence together.
  (Signal). "Adrienne rides the bus to work each day."
  Yes*, Adrienne rides the bus to work each day.*
  Now, I'm going to skip around. Read the second sentence:
  (Call on student). "Adrienne's friend Toni walks to work, though."
  Yes, Adrienne's friend Toni walks to work, though.
  Read the third sentence:
  (Call on student). "They both walk home after work because it is too late for the bus."
  Yes, They both walk home after work because it is too late for the bus.

- Everybody, look at both sentences in Part D. They both report about Adrienne and Toni. These sentences would sound better combined into a compound sentence. I'm going to skip around. Who is this sentence 1 about?
  (Call on student). "Adrienne."
  Yes, sentence 1 is about Adrienne. Who is sentence 2 about?
  (Call on student). "Toni."
  Yes, sentence 2 is about Toni. Who is sentence 3 about?
  (Call on student). "Both girls."
  Yes, sentence 3 is about both girls.

  Everybody, listen to the instructions for Part D: Use a clean sheet of paper. Combine these sentences into one sentence. Make sure that the verbs all agree in number (singular or plural)..
- Cut out information that is in both sentences. Make your sentence as short as you can, but do not leave out important information.
- Start working on Part D now. Put your pencil down when you're finished.
  (Observe students and give feedback.)

4. You're going to report about the sentences you wrote.
   (Call on students.)
   (Sentences will vary. Point out to students that repeating information, such as the names Adrienne and Toni is not precise. Reward students who write the most precise sentence and have all punctuation correct.)

   (Write 3 of the most precise sentences on board.)
   These are the most concise sentence you reported. If you wrote a sentence similar to these, award yourself 2 bonus points. All punctuation must be correct to earn the bonus points.

EXERCISE 4

EDITING SENTENCES

1. Everybody, look back at your workbook. Put your finger on Part E. (Check.) There are three sentences in Part E.

- Let's read the sentences together. (Signal). "The horse were tamed and it listened to its owner."
  (Signal). "I were in the pool."
  (Signal). "She were hungry so she ate a candy bar."
  Look at each sentence again. These sentences have verb number errors. What is wrong with these verbs?
  (Signal). "They have verb number errors."
  Yes, They have verb number errors. Each sentence needs its verb changed to make them correct.

  Listen to the instructions for Part E: Use the same sheet of paper. Correct the sentences so that they all have correct verb number agreement. Rewrite the new sentences on your sheet of paper in paragraph form. Correct all capitalization and punctuation, too.
- Remember: Every sentence must end with a period. The first word in a sentence must be capitalized.
- Remember: A compound sentence has a conjunction. You need to put a comma before the conjunction.
- Start working on Part E now. Put your pencil down when you're finished.
  (Observe students and give feedback.)

2. You're going to report about the sentences you wrote.
   (Call on students.)
